

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A semiconductor device includes a fuse circuit, which includes a first conductive region and a second conductive region. The first conductive region has a multi-layered structure, and the second conductive region has a less layered structure than the first conductive region.